

ALASKA

Food Code Exemptions

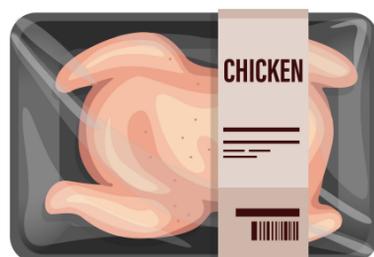

Meat: Farm Gate and Custom Slaughter

Alaska farmers can sell their livestock through farm gate sales and butcher the meat for the new owner.

Poultry

Alaska poultry producers can slaughter and process up to 20,000 birds each year on their premises.

Cottage Food

Home producers in Alaska can sell up to $25,000 worth of non-potentially hazardous foods each year.

Eggs

Egg producers in Alaska can sell eggs to markets and food services if the eggs are clean, intact, and labeled.

Eggs can also be sold directly to consumers.

Dairy

Registered dairy producers in Alaska can sell their dairy products to markets and directly to consumers.

And much more...

Other food code exemptions in Alaska include bake sales, raw honey, rabbits, donations, glacier ice, novelties, raw agricultural products, herd shares, reindeer meat, and more.

THE LAST FRONTIER

This fact sheet is a summary of the topic and does not replace the Alaska Food Code (18 AAC 31).

Alaska Food Safety and Sanitation Program
State of Alaska, Department of Environmental Conservation
Division of Environmental Health

1-877-233-3663
dec.alaska.gov/eh/fss